529 N. Howard Street is a four story high, three bay wide building with a flat roof, proportionally scaled and symetrically organized fenestration brick building and stone foundation walls. The second, third, and fourth story facades are each punctuated by three double hung windows with six over six lights, stone sills and splayed brick lintels. The first story facade has been all tered and now accomodates a record shop and hotel entrance. A two light flat plate glass window houses the record shop displays in the center of the facade. To the right of this window is the flat recessed entrance to the shop. To the left of the window, surmountend three stone steps and encased in wood pilasters is the flat recessed entrance to the hotel. This entire configuration of two doors and plate glass window is surmounted by a wooden cornice that visually divides the fiest and second story facades. A modest cornice carrying dentals surmounts the entire building facade.
